What is Going On Tonight
Overlook Lodge, No. 16, I. O. O. F.
Meets at No. 307 Main street.

Wednesday evening, May 3, will be given in the annual of Company G, 169th Infantry, 5th Division, of this city, as one of the banner nights in the history of the company, as the night on which the first annual banquet was held, with many prominent military men from other cities present.

Soon after 6 o'clock the fifty men of the local platoon of Company G with officers and guests sat about the tables in the refreshment room in the basement of the armory where the following appetizing menu was served by the women's society of the Methodist Episcopal church:

Grape Fruit
Roast Chicken, Brown Gravy
Mashed Potatoes, Mashed Turnips
Combination Salad
Buttered Rolls Coffee
Apple Pie a la Mode

Following the banquet speeches were made by various officers who told of World war experiences and the part Company L of the 169th Infantry played during the driving that ended the war in favor of the allied armies. Other guests who had fought during the Civil war told of their experiences in 1863. The guests were Captain Hunt, Major Scarborough, Captain Penton, Mayor Charles A. Gates, Captain Keating, Major Maine, Colonel Morrison, Commander Benson and Major Hagarty. Other officers of Company G present were Captain Morrison, Lieutenant Smith and Lieutenant McCarthy.

The banquet hall had been artistically decorated with sprays of flowers, and lighted Japanese lanterns. At each place were spring flowers. During the banquet and for singing music was furnished by The Trio.

The meeting of the Men's Club of the Methodist Episcopal church held Wednesday night was well attended. Following a supper the social hour was enjoyed, during which a talk on "Some Problems of Immigration" was given by Americanization Director G. B. Gilman.

The Women's Society of the First Congregational church met Wednesday at the church house and engaged in making compasses under the direction of Mrs. Robert Newton. During the afternoon a social hour was held during which the members listened to an instructive and entertaining talk on "Ceylon by Mrs. Edith Gates who had spent five years in that far off island.

Finger prints of Chester Fay and Edward F. Reese, bound over prisoners at the Brooklyn county jail, were taken recently by a local detective and forwarded to the New York city police department. The report on the finger prints has been received being stating that Fay, the younger of the two criminals who conducted a series of breaks in this city about a month ago has a criminal record in New York. He has been arrested twice during the past year. The older brother, Edward, was arrested in Springfield, as a dangerous person believed to be a gunman, but as he possessed no weapon his case was dropped. In November 19, 1921, he was arrested for burglary in another city. On both these arrests his alias was Albert Flowers.

The report failed to disclose a criminal record for Fay at the New York city police department. Fay's picture, however, is in the "Foghorn" gallery. Both men were bound over to the criminal court for the work of May 15th. They were given a hearing in the local police court Saturday, April 29th.

Federal officers Condon and Briggs, of the old Clark Allen farm in the town of Sprague, Wednesday afternoon and night still having a capacity of seventy gallons, which was in operation when the officers arrived at the farm. No one was in the house when the officers entered but the still was in operation in the kitchen, while the men folks were in the back yard. The still was a five gallon still of newly made moonshine, and five other jars partly filled. The officers found a great quantity of mash and took them over a hour to destroy it. The farm is operated by Antefine Tanager, who will be brought before U. S. Commissioner Earl Mathewson at Norwich at an early date.

The Whittemore block, formerly the Hills block, which was partially destroyed by fire about three months ago, is rapidly being renovated and when finished will be one of the most modern apartment houses of the city. The building, both inside and out has been greatly improved over the first plan of Dr. T. Morton Hills who built the house as a residence, with hospital quarters on the fourth floor. Many of the partitions within the house, according to the architect, have been torn out and refitted with another four more rooms have been added to make the floors suitable for apartments. There are two apartments on each floor, except the first floor, which is a retail store. The old building in its entirety. The old building, which has been removed and in its place a new entrance has been made with an outside front entrance with concrete stairs, reaching the three upper floors. The west entrance has been done away with and the vestibule, the space being used for the first front apartment. A new entrance to the south is recessed under the porte cochere, using the former handsome vestibule. This new entrance is a novel feature and the space being used for the first front apartment. The building has been repainted, a Colonial port built on, and the large dormer windows added to the general beauty of the house which is one of the largest wooden structures in the city.

Windham Center residents had visions of a fine Tuesday night, after a snow day, when the bell of the Congregational church started out in heavy tones. The Windham Center fire brigade was in readiness to start for the fire and people were filling out of the houses to learn the news which were reached them that Rev. Arthur W. Clifford had caused the ringing of the bell to notify them that the lecture scheduled to be held at the church Tuesday night would be carried out as scheduled. The people knew the lecture was on the lecture for the evening but the bell ringing was more of a novelty feature and coming as it did after several weeks of fire fighting in the woodlands the thought of a fire came before the thought of the lecture.

The lecture was held as scheduled thirty people being present. The speaker was Rev. M. C. Dickey, a Congregational missionary from North Dakota, who told of the work of the Congregational denomination in North Dakota during the past four decades and by the use of maps pointing out the new locations of churches in that state.

The May term of the Windham county superior court was scheduled to open in this city Wednesday morning, but word received by Sheriff Charles A. Gates from Clark Edgar M. Warner was to the effect

DID HIM MORE GOOD

Many men and women suffer from backache, rheumatic pains, stiff joints, sore muscles and other results of kidney trouble because they neglected the first warning symptoms. Foley Kidney Pills are the only remedy for kidney trouble that causes pain and misery. Write: "Foley Kidney Pills did me more good than all the other medicine I ever took" and I will send you a free trial bottle. I don't have any pain like I had before I took them." Lee & Osgood Co.

L. M. Carpenter and M. M. Dunbar, former president and secretary and treasurer respectively, of the Jewett City Trust Co. were in Hartford Tuesday in consultation with State Bank Commissioner Sturges. The total amount of locally owned stock in the Jewett City Trust Co. today is 124 shares. These holdings are quite widely distributed among a considerable number of owners. By an agreement entered into this week all these shares have been placed in the hands of a committee of three, L. M. Carpenter, James H. Shea and Daniel F. Finn. It is further agreed that Mr. Carpenter, chairman of this committee, shall handle these shares in proxy control for the period of one year. It is believed by these stockholders that a definite knowledge should be accorded them from time to time, relative to the financial status of the Jewett City Trust Co. The chairman of this committee representing 124 shares of the bank's stock has been refused access to the ledgers of the concern, nevertheless, the holders of these shares are firm in their belief that such information can not long be denied.
